DISCOVER BENTLEY

Program Overview

The Discover Bentley program welcomes high-achieving African-American, Latinx, and Native American students who are interested in pursuing a graduate degree in business to explore the options available at Bentley University. This program allows prospective students to meet with faculty, students and admission representatives to learn more about the MBA and MS programs offered at the McCallum Graduate School. Selected candidates will have the opportunity to sit in on classes and receive information about the admission and financial aid process.

The resources Bentley provides to their business students are unbelievable. From the technological classrooms to the opportunity to become Bloomberg certified, it was a great feeling to be at a 'real' business school. A business school that integrates real work into the classroom, offers global opportunities, and experiential learning.
